PROLOGUE

Cheerful, serious, busy, unpredictable, lively—life at Brookline High School is like a patchwork quilt. The vast "patchwork" of BHS, held together by the thread of enthusiastic leadership, is woven of many smaller quilts, for since our freshman year, we have collected a wide variety of experiences and have sewn them into the fabric of our lives. As we look back on our high school years, we all hope that we have shaped the many precious opportunities of this time into a useful pattern for our later lives.

DEDICATION

We dedicate the 1961 Murivian to you, DR. ALBERT SHEPARD, because in an era where idealism is often subordinated to materialism, you represent an ideal —that of the true scholar. Your high standards for our scholastic achievement have been an inspiration to us, giving us an incentive for extra effort not only in Latin but also in every other subject. You have helped us to consider Latin literature as the ever-interesting expression of the ideas of people who, though they lived many centuries ago, had problems and prejudices strikingly like ours. You have always been ready to help and encourage struggling students, giving them a desire to master puzzling constructions in order to enjoy the ideas which they express.

For these things, and for all the things you have said and done which have enriched our lives, we dedicate our yearbook to you, Dr. Shepard, with deep affection and heartfelt gratitude.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

School Committee

Row 1: Mr. Robinson, Mrs. Pinanski, Dr. Kendrick (Chairman), Dr. Caverly (Superintendent), Mrs. Peabody, Miss Macdonald (Assistant Superintendent). Row 2: Dr. Frechette, Miss O'Brien (Secretary), Dr. Trilling, Mr. Carle, Mr. Burr, Mrs. Burack.

The generous effort of the School Committee is largely responsible for Brookline's smoothly operated school system and for its high academic and personal standards. Its interest in new educational developments which might improve Brookline High School is demonstrated by such reforms as the ability grouping plan and by its efforts to attract able teachers to our school system. Although most of us aren't fortunate enough to have personal contact with these people, we all recognize and appreciate their selfless service to us and our community.

Dr. Ernest R. Caverly

Dr. Thomas Kendrick

Miss Ann E. Macdonald

Dr. Bertram H. Holland

Brookline High School has always been large; this year it is larger than ever. Therefore, the job of the headmaster requires an ability to organize effectively without sacrificing a close relationship with students and faculty. Dr. Holland, in carrying out his administrative duties and in his contacts with others, gives generously of himself in order that Brookline High School's character and high quality may be maintained.

Mrs. Ginty and Dr. Holland.

Row 1: Miss Driscoll, Mrs. Ginty, Mr. Grinnell, Miss Campbell, Miss Murdock. Row 2: Mr. Rinaldi, Mr. Wall, Miss Douglass, Miss Rouillard, Mr. Harris, Mr. Avery. Not Present: Mr. Bartlett, Mr. Coe, Mr. Howard.

Guidance

Not everyone can afford an analyst, but each Brookline High School student has a guidance counselor who takes special interest in his aspirations, plans, and problems. Throughout the student's four years in high school, the guidance counselor helps him learn his strengths and weaknesses, make a career choice, and select schools to prepare him for his career. The testing service run by this department is truly outstanding. Tests give the student a variety of opportunities to determine his aptitudes and interests. The information the counselor obtains in this way enables him to counsel the student effectively. The Guidance Department's unselfish assistance helps us to know ourselves better and to define our future plans.

Mr. Avery and Mr. Grinnell.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Like Barkis, the English department "is willin' ". Among other things, these teachers are willing to spend endless hours correcting themes, to conduct stimulating discussions, and to help students overcome grammatical weaknesses —all with a view to arousing the students' appreciation and understanding of language and literature. In the course of four years, students are introduced not only to many literary forms—drama, the novel, the short story, and poetry—but also to works representing a variety of periods in English literature. In short, the English teachers help us communicate with others and understand others as they communicate with us.

Row 1: Mrs. Donnelly, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Dalton, Mr. Woodman (Head of Dept.), Miss Tiews, Miss Ackerman, Mrs. Plaut, Miss Busse. Row 2: Mr. Flemings, Mrs. Ogden, Mrs. Vollero, Miss Deal, Mrs. Silver, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Hamer, Mrs. Heasley. Row 3: Mr. Wilkinson, Mr. Weeks, Mr. Imray, Mr. Jordan, Dr. Campbell, Mr. Walsh, Dr. Allison. Not Present: Mrs. Greenberg, Mrs. Warshaw, Mr. Schluntz.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

"The man who has music in his soul will be in love with the loveliest." The band, orchestra, vocal groups, music appreciation classes, and all the other activities sponsored by the music department bring the joy of music to countless students, whether they participate or listen. Moreover, the concerts and special performances directed by this department are a link between the school and the community. The work of these teachers stimulates general appreciation of music both within the student body and throughout the town of Brookline.

Row 1: Mr. Joslin, Mr. Corley (Head of Dept.).
Row 2: Mr. Philpott, Mr. Seymour.

Row 1: Mr. Lyons, Mrs. Shine, Miss Bates, Mr. Ward (Head of Dept.), Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Springer, Mrs. Addelson. Row 2: Mr. Hornik, Mr. Bruce, Mr. Fitzgerald, Mr. Borg, Mr. Tranberg, Mr. Moulton, Mr. Jean. Not Present: Mr. Downes.

MATH DEPARTMENT

"The whole is equal to the sum of its parts," and the unparalleled achievement of the mathematics department is equal to the combined knowledge and initiative of its members. Student interest and enthusiasm in this vital field can be proved to be in direct proportion to the effort and skill of these dedicated followers of Euclid and Pythagoras. This department merits a maximum quantity of praise for its work in teaching a subject of immeasurable significance in a world where math becomes daily more important for man's very survival.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

The business department, while teaching basic clerical and commercial skills, performs a variety of other functions, including student placement and special services to the school. Typing, bookkeeping, and shorthand are essential in the business world; essential also are the attitudes developed in these courses. After preparing students for careers, this department helps them find jobs suited to their interests and skills. Typing, mimeographing, and switchboard operation are a few of the ways in which the business department assists the other members of the school community.

ART DEPARTMENT

At a time when "self-expression" is the battle-cry of the young and restless, courses provided by the Brookline High School art department offer an excellent outlet for unexpressed creativity. Miss Peckham and her staff introduce beginners to various art forms—sculpture, painting, architecture, design—and help students develop standards for judging art. This department's assistance in set design and poster publicity is of vital importance to the success of dramatic productions. Through the efforts of these teachers, art becomes a useful and lively part of our experience.

Row 1: Miss Peckham (Head of Dept.), Mrs. Woodberry. Row 2: Miss Calden, Mr. Coletta. Not Present: Mr. Lamb.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Since not everyone wants or needs to juggle dumbbells, the Brookline High School physical education department stresses "physical education with a purpose." Field and indoor sports emphasize good sportsmanship; first aid courses teach skills that will be useful to students in adult life; square dance classes permit students to have fun while developing social skills. Our facilities for swimming and apparatus work are particularly good. This entire department helps students use all available facilities and combat suburban flabbiness.

Row 1: Miss Kelley, Mr. Hines (Director), Miss Taylor, Mrs. Brusko. Row 2: Mr. Bemis, Mr. McInerney, Mr. Weygant.

Row 1: Miss Nardone, Miss Abel, Miss Bruce, Mr. Hollingworth (Head of Dept.), Miss Campbell, Mrs. McGavic, Mrs. Rosser. Row 2: Mr. Fuller, Mr. Gleekman, Mr. Parfitt, Mr. Fox, Mr. Warren, Mrs. Plzak, Mr. Lowe. Not Present: Miss Driscoll.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

"Science, the new nobility! Progress. The world moves on!" Double periods spent in well-equipped laboratories, individual projects, and Science Fair exhibits all develop in students a capacity for independent work, which enables them to "move on" with the rest of the world. Through use of new teaching techniques, this department helps students learn more about themselves and the world around them.

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

The admonition of the Roman historian Tacitus, "Think of your forefathers! Think of your posterity!" could well be the motto of the social studies department, whose responsibility it is to teach us our national and cultural background so that we may understand our place in the modern world and do our part to form our nation's future. The history student is pleased to discover that the dates, events, and people, so forbidding in the texts and charts, come to life as part of the fascinating story of man's successes, failures, and gradual progress. This department teaches a subject of great importance as long as men remember that "All past is a prelude" or, in the words of a Washington cabbie, "Brother, you ain't seen nothin' yet."

Row 1: Mr. W. Smith, Miss Weeden, Mrs. Manley, Mr. Merrill (Head of Dept.), Mrs. Hartley, Miss McCabe. Row 2: Mr. Dobras, Mr. Coe, Mr. Howard, Mr. Bruce, Mr. Meyers, Mr. Wright.

HOMEMAKING

"Charity begins at home," according to the old proverb. A great many other desirable attitudes and habits are also developed in a well-run home, the cornerstone of our society. The homemaking department teaches girls cooking, sewing, and other aspects of home maintenance, the skills which will enable them to become homemakers fully prepared to run their homes smoothly and efficiently. The members of this department have chosen a difficult and important task. We think they have done it well.

Row 1: Miss Egan, Miss Cronan (Head of Dept.), Miss South. Row 2: Mrs. Sennott, Mrs. Atwood.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Emphasis on practical achievement and vocational training characterizes the work of the industrial arts department, headed by Mr. Edmunds. Boys receive experience with many tools in courses including mechanical drawing, auto shop, wood, electricity, and metal work. In addition, the driver education and driver training courses offered by this department help develop the fundamental skills and attitudes necessary for safe driving. In short, this department not only teaches basic mechanical techniques but also develops in its students a sense of pride in their achievement.

Row 1: Mr. Couture, Mr. Edmunds (Head of Dept.), Mr. Beauchemin, Mr. Bowler. Row 2: Mr. Foster, Mr. Ford, Mr. McCabe.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

This department speaks for itself—in four different languages. Students learn through speaking—even Latin students chorus "hic, haec, hoc" with remarkable fluency—writing, and reading. As they acquire a knowledge of the structure of a language, they gain an insight into the people and customs of a country. This is Mr. Mather's first year as head of the foreign language department, and he has done an excellent job. Active participation in language clubs and newspapers, together with multilingual greetings in the halls are indications of students' enthusiastic response to the work of this department.

Row 1: Mrs. Hoyt, Miss Tondreau, Miss McKenna, Mr. Mather (Head of Dept.), Miss Douglass, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Rodriguez. Row 2: Dr. Shepard, Miss Dragonas, Mrs. Piazza, Mr. Ethier, Mr. Friedland, Mr. Goodrich, Miss Bridey, Miss Manter, Mr. Belocas.

ADMINISTRATION

It has been said that a slip of the pen by a member of the secretarial staff could throw the whole school into a state of confusion. Fortunately, such errors are rarely made by our skilled secretaries, whose numerous duties include keeping records, sending out notices, issuing passes, handling school correspondence, and, in general, preventing chaos. Their work contributes immeasurably to the efficient operation of our school.

Mrs. McDonnell, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Ravreby, Mrs. Meany, Miss Niland, Miss O'Leary.

LIBRARY STAFF

A quiet haven, a source of personal enrichment, a research center—the library is all of these. This pleasant situation is made possible by the work of our library staff, which is headed this year by Mrs. Cribben. These interesting people enjoy conversing with students who seek their acquaintance and help. Because of their careful enforcement of rules, the library is a peaceful and convenient place in which to read or work.

Mrs. Cribben (Head Librarian), Mrs. Marvit, Mrs. Mulford. Not Present: Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Oscherwitz.

NURSES

"Health is a jewel." The health of the entire student body is the responsibility of our nurses. The shots, tests, and periodic examinations are a few of the ways by which they ensure the physical well-being of all students. Always pleasant and capable in an emergency, the nurses perform a difficult job well.

Miss Schomer, Miss Maloney.

LUNCHROOM STAFF

How would you like to entertain 2,500 people for dinner five days a week? The lunchroom staff performs this near-miraculous feat, preparing and serving food for hungry hordes and cleaning up after them. These people also prepare refreshments for teas and other school functions. They perform a truly outstanding service, one which does not go unrecognized.

Row 1: Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. Sheridan, Mrs. Curtis, Miss Cronan, Mrs. Sennott (Dietitian), Mrs. Greeme, Mrs. Hurley, Mrs. Currie. Row 2: Mrs. Reposa, Mrs. Langdon, Mrs. Cunneen, Mrs. McGrail, Mrs. Donovan, Mrs. McCuritry, Mrs. Karr, Mrs. Macaulay. Row 3: Mrs. Dalrymple, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Young, Mrs. McKnight, Mrs. O'Conner, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Iangney, Mrs. Orff.

Shailer House

Lyman Avery
Assistant Housemaster

To Shailer House, Class of 1961,

Many changes have taken place in this world since September, 1957, when you first entered Brookline High School as a class. There have been social changes, geographical changes, and political changes in these past four years. All of you, who are little worlds within yourselves, have experienced changes too. You have grown from boys and girls to young men and women; you have developed social graces and made new friends; you have acquired academic knowledge; you have experienced sportsmanship and developed skill on the athletic fields; you have won honors for yourselves and for your school in competitive tests; you have learned to live together respecting one another as persons. The time has now come when you will go your different ways; some to continue academic pursuits; some to engage in the business world; some to join the armed forces.

You are the first class to go out into the New Frontiers of the nineteen sixties. You are told that courage, judgment, integrity, and dedication are the human qualities needed to face these new frontiers. It is a thrilling age you are looking forward to—perhaps hazardous—but the spirit of adventure is still strong in the human soul. This is the age of the young and you are the selected young who will contribute to the exploration of space, who will assist in gaining freedom and opportunities for all peoples, who will provide the human needs for those who are deprived.

Our blessing goes with you. May you have faith—faith in God, faith in yourselves, and faith in your fellowmen.

Katharine Ginty

We've had a blast, how about you?

Roberts House

John Wall
Housemaster

To Roberts House, Class of 1962,

The efforts of many people are necessary to create a good school. Teachers, townspeople, and students—all must be dedicated to maintaining the quality of this school and to improving this quality for the future.

The idea that teachers set tasks and standards, and students then follow to the extent that they are compelled is out of date. Students too are leaders. The quality of their school leadership, the maturity of their behavior, and the level of their scholastic attainments set standards that could never be compelled.

As students at Brookline High School, you have inherited a fine school, built and maintained in its character by those classes that have gone before you. Now as seniors, the task of building an even finer school becomes yours. May your senior year add much to the honor of Brookline High School in scholarship, athletics, democratic school government, and a keener sense of social consciousness.

Assistant Housemaster

Inez K. Woodberry

It is not too early to note that Akers House of 1964 is already revealing the spirit evident upon entering Brookline High School. In scholarship, sports, music, citizenship, and social responsibility a fine start has been made.

Each year offers new opportunities for unselfish service, for more mature relationships with parents, teachers, and each other, and for more satisfying experiences in learning. Brookline High School provides the setting where you may embrace them to your own good. The pursuit of them can be joyous. The transient choice is yours. Your Housemasters look forward to another satisfying year.

Mr. Bartlett, only three years to go!

Murivian Business Staff

What is the Murivian? It is not merely a handy reference in which to look up somebody's third cousin's best girl-friend. The Murivian is a patch-work quilt in miniature. Stitched by the editorial staff, it draws together the many patches which comprise life at BHS. Sewn in, too, are the activities undertaken by individuals. Clubs of varied plaids and patterns, sports of sturdy denim, faculty of substantial wools, class day and graduation a silken patch—all these make the Murivian a representation of the school and the individuals who compose it.

Who is responsible for it? The editorial staff, with the aid of junior apprentices, puts the yearbook together; the business staff organizes sales and distribution. Because of their combined efforts, the Murivian is not a cliché; it reflects clearly the vital world of BHS.

It's Dollar Day at Jordan's!

But why can't we give away a trip to the moon with each Murivian?

Well, Betsy, can you think of a better name?

Sagamore

Have you ever been accosted in the halls by someone eager to learn your views on teachers' hairstyles? You might later have discovered with mixed feelings that your words have been immortalized by the Sagamore. You have become acquainted with perhaps the most outspoken aspect of Brookline High School. In addition to publishing news, public opinion polls, sports, and humorous features, the Sagamore contains thoughtful analyses of school problems. The Sagamore gives students an opportunity to vent their feelings constructively while developing a variety of journalistic skills. The staff is a devoted if somewhat shifty-eyed group (the result of too much proofreading). Their diligent work makes the Sagamore a worthy supplement to the New York Times and the Brookline Chronicle-Citizen.

Student Manual

The 1960 Student Manual soared into the sixties with a revised, revamped format. The Manual remains a convenient reference for students seeking such choice scraps of knowledge as the location of fire exit no. 379.4 or the kind of essay one must write to snare the semi-annual birdcatcher's award. A recent innovation in this year's Manual is the section containing college information: what colleges want in a candidate and how a student can improve his chances of admission. Other sections include sports, student government, and general information. In short, the Student Manual is more than the "Freshman's Bible;" it is a comprehensive catch-all which every student finds useful.

Here lies the hope of bewildered freshmen?

Smith On Sabbatical

Mr. Frank D. Smith, a member of the History Department, and author of two novels, will spend the year 1960-61 at Harvard University in the John Hay Fellowship for Humanities. He will return to Brookline High School for the school year 1961-62.

ORGANIZATIONS

School Council

Anyone tempted to declare that BHS is organized along feudal lines—that is, humble serfs oppressed by tyrannical overlords—would do well to investigate the activities of the School Council. Although this organization has not yet obtained unlimited power, its accomplishments are of definite significance to every student. The Winter Carnival, club meeting schedule, constitutions, and elections all come under its jurisdiction. These amateur legislators, holding office even without the "advantages" of party bosses and big-city machines, bring a degree of democracy to Brookline High School.

Now if we split those profits five ways . . .

Locker Marshals

Row 1: Meredith Poor, Margery Conley (Asst. Captain), Cynthia Renta (Captain), Stephanie Rowland. Row 2: David Felder, Laura Paine, Buddy Newcomb

Who cares if he's locked in there!

Elected Marshals

Appointed Marshals

Making skeleton keys for the black market.

If a red-banded arm swoops in front of your face in the course of your noon repast, your tomato soup is not in danger, but your pocketbook may be. In short, the marshals are trying to bring civilization to the lunchroom. Their law-enforcing endeavors, however, extend beyond that limited area and encompass the entire school. Their varied services include direction of traffic in the corridors, apprehension of school lawbreakers, and redirection of bewildered freshmen. Three cheers for the Brookline High School unmounted police.

Court of Justice

Is this the Inquisition?

Theoretically, Justice, like Love, is blind, but that doesn't mean that infringements of the law will go unnoticed. This student-run court endeavors to arrive at the truth without compromising the right of the individual to defend himself. Once guilt is established, however, punishment is of course meted out. The justices, attorneys, and sergeants-at-arms represent a determined effort to serve both the school and the individual.

Amateur Radio Club

The next assignment: wire Dr. Holland's office.

Aero Club

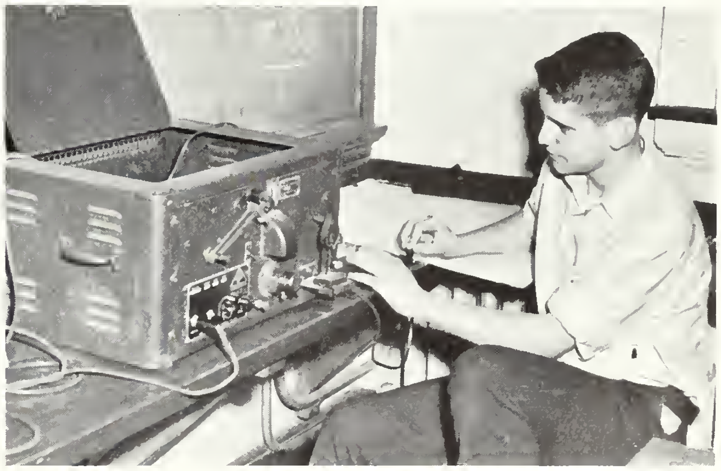
Let's stop manufacturing U-2's, boys!

"Off we go into the wild blue yonder," clinging firmly to the string of a model airplane. This feat is not the sole activity of the Aero Club, but rather the culmination of a series of enjoyable experiences. The members study the mechanical construction of airplanes and build their own planes according to carefully drawn plans—to the amazement of those who cannot even stick two pieces of paper together without becoming a gluey mess. Other highlights of the club year are films, demonstrations, and visits to air bases. The DC-7-shaped patch in our BHS quilt is a symbol of an organization valuable to all students interested in aviation.

Anyone interested in electronic engineering or just plain talking, will find something of interest in the Amateur Radio Club. Under the guidance of Mrs. Rosser, members learn about the workings of radios from licensed "hams." This club is also engaged in an important service activity. This year, the members plan to assist Conelrad in the vital work of Civil Defense. In a somewhat lighter vein, they conduct public opinion record polls and visit radio stations. This lively club investigates a form of communication which has become increasingly important in modern times.



Krusch, do you read me?

Art Club

Do you come home from modern art exhibits firmly convinced that you could paint as well as any of the artists whose work was displayed? If you need appreciative viewers to interpret your own splashings on canvas, join the Art Club. This group studies artistic devices, experiments with different materials and mediums, and visits art exhibits. Just as this club's imaginative posters brighten the school, so the entire Art Club is one of the most colorful patches in the Brookline High School quilt.

If only we hadn't lost the instructions.

Band

Contrary to popular opinion, BHS has more than one band. First of all, the Marching Band, which plays during the football season, does much to stimulate school spirit at rallies and games. Prerequisites for joining include not only ability to play an instrument but also facility in distinguishing between the right and left foot. The Chamber Band, a select group of musicians, entertains the student body at musical assemblies and at the annual Alumni and Quadrangle Concerts. Under the direction of Mr. Philpott, both bands, a quarter-note-shaped patch in our quilt, give students an opportunity to experience further "the joy of music."

TWO policemen? We need a riot squad.

Is Creature from the Black Lagoon being shown by the chemistry department?

Audio-Visual Staff

When you arrive breathless at a class only to find "Report to Squad Room" written on the blackboard, you know that the Audio-Visual Staff is at work in your behalf. These capable people master the techniques of operating movie projectors, slide projectors, and tape recorders. Their efforts enrich day-to-day classroom work by allowing us to take advantage of stimulating materials. This service is not only recognized but also enjoyed by teachers and students alike.

Bank Staff

The pig-shaped patch in our quilt does not represent the 4H Club; rather it is a piggy bank symbol of the thrifty habits encouraged by our Bank Staff. Whether we are saving for a college education, a stereo phonograph, or a ticket to the Senior Prom, the school savings program has something to offer all of us. However, when two thousand students decide to lay away their savings, some organization is necessary. This helpful group compiles school-wide totals and percentages and attends to the other multitudinous details which make possible regular in-school saving. We all owe Mr. Dunbar and the Bank Staff a sincere "thank you" for keeping our accounts "in the black."

What did happen to the money?

What do you mean he's an unattractive mascot?

Biology Club

Come spring, members of the Biology Club may be seen skipping blithely o'er hill and dale examining flora and fauna specimens while breathing in anew the refreshing atmosphere of rebirth. Perhaps, collapsing on the school steps clutching a handful of precious pods is closer to the truth. At any season of the year, the Biology Club program is characterized by lively participation in the Science Fair, demonstrations, and field trips. The members spend hours caring for various plants and animals they keep in that fascinating glass-walled room. In short, neither formaldehyde nor sneeze-producing seeds can quell the enthusiasm of this spirited club.

Camera Club

Snappy—that's the word for this organization. The members of this club, who may be distinguished by one eye shut behind a camera, spend many happy and profitable hours snapping pictures, enlarging and developing negatives, and learning the tricks of the photography trade. Eager shutterbugs have an opportunity to display their favorite pictures at the annual photography contest. As a result of their affilation with this club, students acquire a good background, whether it be for a photography career or simply for the taking of baby pictures of the proud-father variety.

Let him take the pictures in the Girls' locker room.

Central Treasury

However much we may decry materialism, there is need for skilled management of money at Brookline High School. The Central Treasury, supervised by the business department, handles the accounts of the Scholarship Fund, the Bank Staff, all four house treasuries, and most school organizations. Theirs is also the job of instructing club treasurers in the statistical intracacies of their office. With these financial wizards at work, how can anyone say that "money is the root of all evil?"

Row 1: Geraldine Lynch, Florence Atkinson, Mary Costello, Carol Maggi, Cynthia Schneider, Marsha Weber. Row 2: Mrs. Seltzer, Mr. Golini, Mr. Ehnes, Mr. Dwinnell, Mr. Dunbar, Miss Greenshields.

Yes, this is the Friendly Loan Association.

Chefs' Club

Do we have to eat it?

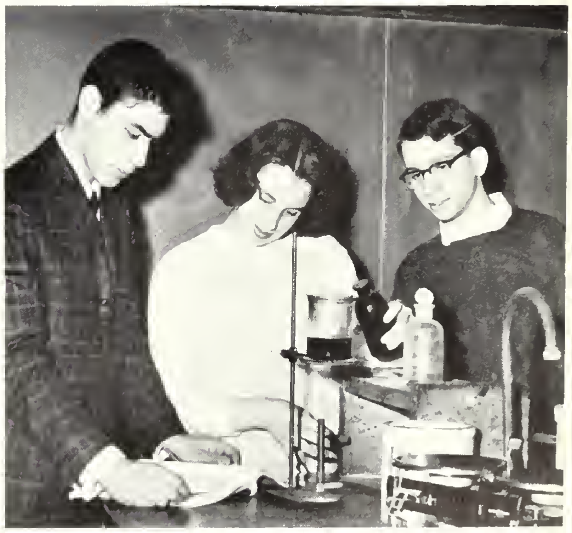
"Double double toil and trouble;
Fire burn and cauldron bubble."

Although Shakespeare was obviously not thinking of the Chefs' Club when he wrote these lines, these boys often do peer with piercing eyes into a bubbling pot (or frying pan, as it were). These masters of the culinary art have taken it upon themselves to prove man's ancient claim that the best chefs in the world are men. On a somewhat more practical note, these boys will on future camping trips know the approved method of preparing a can of beans attractively.

Chemistry Club

The Chemistry Club is a constructive element in the experiment of learning. Ours may have been termed the "explosive generation," but as long as we confine the explosion to Florence flasks and beakers, the situation is under control. With the guidance of Miss Campbell, the members of this club increase their knowledge of this valuable science by means of experiment-demonstrations, lectures, and discussions.

Sulfuric acid? It tasted like water to me.



The Sorcerer's Apprentices.

Chess Club

On Fridays, the average student bounds out of school, taking care not to look back lest he be changed into a quadrangle statue. However, the members of the Chess Club are singularly unaffected by Friday Fatigue. In past years, this club has participated in many tournaments with other schools and several times has won the Chess League Championship. The members experience enjoyment, keen competition, and mental stimulation from this "game of intellectuals."

Eating the chessmen will get you nowhere, Mike.

Debating Society

Row 1: Nada France, Herbert Rubin (Treasurer), Steven Gilbert (Vice-President), Stephen Ryack (President), Stephen Kurzman (Vice-President), Peter Mascu, Arlene Kaplan. Row 2: Edward Belsky, William Nitkin, Kenneth Jacobson, David Panizer, Stephen Richman, Mrs. Manley. Row 3: Kenneth Cohen, Stephen Franklin, Ronald Goldberg, Richard Morningstar, Hillel Stavis (Secretary).

Concert Choir

"Hark, hark, the lark at Heaven's gate doth sing." BHS may not be Heaven, but the Concert Choir sings here anyway. Under the direction of Mr. Seymour, this select group of larks, nightingales, and an occasional mockingbird performs at many school concerts and assemblies. Nor is their performance completely spontaneous; the members meet every day during school and once a week after school, to perfect their vocal arrangements. All we need is Orpheus, and we could storm Mount Olympus.

Straight from the horse's mouth!

"Did . . . didn't; did . . . didn't"—If you hear these words echoing through the halls, you are probably passing a primary grade classroom; the Debating Society argues at a loftier level. These masters of the forensic art not only have strong convictions, but also express them forcefully. Their stimulating topics range from the admittance of Red China to the United Nations to the existence of Santa Claus. When these people run for president, they will certainly be well prepared for their great debates.

Row 1: Jane Andelman (Secretary), Leonard Baker (Vice-President), Carol Malchman (President), Merri Ansara (Treasurer). Row 2: Jacqueline Cohen, Mr. Flemings.

Dramatics Society

"The play's the thing"—wherein to catch the money of the mob. At least, the members of this club hope so. But more than that, they hope to give everyone an opportunity to develop his talent—whether in an acting role or in backstage work. Besides major productions, some of the activities of the society include scenes presented at meetings, guest speakers and performers, and an annual banquet. Through the efforts of this group, under the leadership of Mr. Flemings, drama is indeed a living force at Brookline High School.

I'm never complete without my mink.

Foreign Student Exchange Club

"Everybody talks about international understanding, but no one does anything about it." Anyone tempted to believe this statement should think first of the activities of the Foreign Student Exchange Club. This year's exchange students, Anita Kalberman and Björn Hölberg-Peterson, not only keep us up to date on current social customs but also acquaint us with the problems facing their respective countries and the attitude of these countries toward the United States. Last Summer, Susan Egdall, as an American student abroad, stored up impressions of Sweden which she has shared with us at Brookline High. The Foreign Student Exchange Club, through the sale of Christmas cards and cook books, sponsorship of a dance, and aid to the American Field Service committee, helps support this program. The club is a happy combination of lively interest and a worthwhile purpose.

Club

"Mon Dieu" (to be translated as "my goodness gracious!") is an expression characteristic of French Club meetings. The members, spirited Gallomaniacs, use this well-worn phrase to express surprise, pleasure, or both. They have good reason to be pleased. Each year, the Club's six meetings help to further understanding of the French language—through skits and discussions—and French culture—through song fests, slides, and lectures. With the cooperation of the entire French department and particularly Miss Tondreau, the French Club has added a dash of joi de vivre to life at Brookline High School.

Good clean French humor.

Future Homemakers of America

Row 1: Marilyn Nugent, Mary Hogan, Ruth Saloman (Vice President), Josephine Mills (Treasurer), Ann Collier (President), Marie Keegan, Sandra Cahill, Susan Bailey. Row 2: Miss South, Leonora Stagika, Carol MacAllister, Roberta Mawhinney, Jane Goodman, Maureen Cronin, Gayle Quillan, Peggy Buckley, Miss Egan.

Do you resent "brown-n-serve" rolls as an encroachment on the art of good homemaking? Homemakers of Brookline High School unite! Far from being reactionary, the members of the Future Homemakers of America attempt to preserve what is best in a time-honored tradition—namely the arts of home-management, service, and hospitality. In addition to bi-monthly meetings featuring guest speakers, discussions, and cake sales, the members participate in state meetings, and, for a lucky few, the national convention.

What would Dr. Spock say to this?

Making voo-doo dolls.

German

Future Teachers of America

To reverse an old saw—"teaching is the best experience." So say members of this club, who, in answer to cynics, are not maladjusted. They are a dedicated group of young people preparing to answer the increasingly insistent call for more and better teachers. Lectures, trips, and practice teaching in kindergartens are a few of their activities. "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" and Hail to the teachers of the future.

Polished Apple collection will be held next week!

Club

If you wish to hear a rendition of Oh Tannenbaum accompanied by a soft-shoe routine, stay away from the German Club where no such nonsense is tolerated. After all, the German Club is an organization of serious students who never abuse the majestic language of Goethe, Schiller, and the Brothers Grimm. Rather, they increase their knowledge of the German language, culture, and geography through the presentation of slides and records of those who have visited Germany. Naturally, a highlight of each meeting is a foaming stein of that dear old German standby, root beer.

Achtung!

Girls' League

Who says that only co-educational activities can be fun? Support of this statement is inversely proportional to one's participation in Girls' League activities. Whether writing skits for meetings or the annual Supper Party or performing such valuable service activities as hospital volunteer work, making scrapbooks and dolls, and advising freshmen, these girls are always active on behalf of school and community. For a warm feeling of belonging, for the joy of good fun and fellowship, join the Girls' League!

There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight.

What do you mean the boys just formed their own league?

Latin

"Latina defendenda est," might well be the motto of the Latin Club, an organization dedicated to the study and appreciation of the stately language of Caesar, Virgil, and Winnie Ille Pu. Through skits, guest speakers, and the club newspaper, Nova Latina, members learn about imperial glory, Latin literature, and Roman rascality. This club interests not only devoted classicists, whose numbers, by the way, are far from legion, but also anyone anxious to know more about Rome than the bland offerings presented in the first few years of Latin study. It is to the credit of this organization that, for its members at least, Latin has been disinterred from a musty and mouldering tomb and restored to its rightful place as an appealing, living language.

In our charitable endeavors, we often concern ourselves with the basic necessities of life, forgetting certain non-essentials which make life pleasant. The Junior Red Cross gift box program helps compensate for this neglect: gift boxes, filled with toys and health and educational materials, add color to the lives of children overseas. Through the efforts of the Junior Red Cross officers and representatives, who conduct the drive each year, both our own lives and the lives of children abroad are enriched.

Library Aides

Do you have 24 hours to write a 500-word report on the prevention of hangnail in the 8-toed East African sloth? Once you get to the library, perhaps you find that all available books deal with the 6-toed sloth. Well, now what? Do not despair—a library aide will spring to your rescue. These students give up precious study periods to work in the library. There, they help the students by finding books and help the librarians by putting away books and delivering passes. The library aides are certainly one of the best-informed and most helpful service groups in the school.

Plagiarism in the Literary Society?

For those wishing to read more than the required Ivanhoe and Return of the Native or to write more than one paragraph on "What I Did on My Vacation," the Literary Society offers its members opportunity to explore new literary horizons. The "readers" are assigned books of general interest to be discussed at the monthly meetings. At their meetings, the "writers" present their manuscripts written on pre-faded parchment and tied in blue ribbons for constructive criticism. The Society publication, Literary Leaves, reveals that BHS students write more than love notes, grocery lists, and letters to the editor of the Sagamore out of class. Membership based on interest rather than office-scavenging contributes to the achievement of this club.

Oh, but Miss Busse, I don't understand the deeper significance of Hansel and Gretel.

Is this relative to relativity?

Picture a student who winces at the sight of a Cartesian graph, logarithmic table, or even at a quadratic equation—one whose eyes become glassy when called upon to distinguish between an equilateral and equiangular triangle. Now dismiss this ghastly image from your mind. Picture, instead, a student who delights in spending free time developing individual projects, listening to professors of mathematics, and investigating new algebraic systems. Obviously, the latter is a member of the Math Society, an organization which endeavors to give students a new angle on squares.

Row 2: Elliot Aronson, Susan Egdall, Michael Halpern, Robert Cover, Stanley Berkowitz, Norman Spack, Jane Reece, Alan Wolfe, Mrs. McGavic.

National Honor Society

The existence of the National Honor Society is its very essence. N.H.S. has no field trips, demonstrations, pet shows, skits, or cake sales. Rather, this organization has as its chief aim, the preservation of the ideals of scholarship, character, leadership, and service. After much deliberation, a faculty council selects the members; inductions are held twice a year. These students have demonstrated their ability to apply to their daily lives such overworked abstractions as "carrying the torch of knowledge" and "reaching a pinnacle of high achievement."

Orchestra

To the casual listener, the only orchestral music played at Brookline High School is heard between 8:15 and 8:20 over the P.A. system. However, our own orchestra, by playing at assemblies, concerts, and Class Day, contributes a great deal to the musical life of the school. With the help of Mr. Joslin, certain students have acquired enough proficiency to participate in regional orchestral events. All members of the orchestra desire from their participation the real satisfaction of having recreated a work of immortal significance.

Pep Club

In this age of vitamin pills and Geritol, true spontaneity is rare indeed. The members of this club do, indeed, exemplify vitality, vigor, and vibrancy. They sponsor the drum majorettes and cheerleaders; they organize rallies and dances; they sell carnations, book-covers, varsity rats, and shakers; they unify the school. Adept at flag-pole technique, the Pep Club is ever ready to "raise our banners to the sky."

Does this band play music?

Physics Club

If "Newton" means no more to you than the name of Brookline's arch-rival, you could do with some enlightenment. The Physics Club does more than drop apples on people's heads. This organization encourages its members to investigate laws of gravity, motion, heat, light, and electricity. There is a sufficient time-lapse between meetings to permit students to pursue individual research projects. Interesting ideas and an intimate atmosphere make this club truly worthwhile.

Social Customs

Printing Club

Students doubtlessly are grateful to Johannes Gutenberg, without whose invention textbooks would be nonexistent. (Try learning Algebra from a wax tablet!) Fortunately the art of printing did not die out in fifteenth century Germany. Among its modern supporters are the members of the Printing Club who gain satisfaction from producing something attractive as well as useful.

Row 1: Bernard Moore (President), Mr. Couture, Jerry McCarthy (Vice-President). Row 2: Ronald Wilkosky, Richard Arsenalt (Secretary).

Counterfeiting made easy.

Club

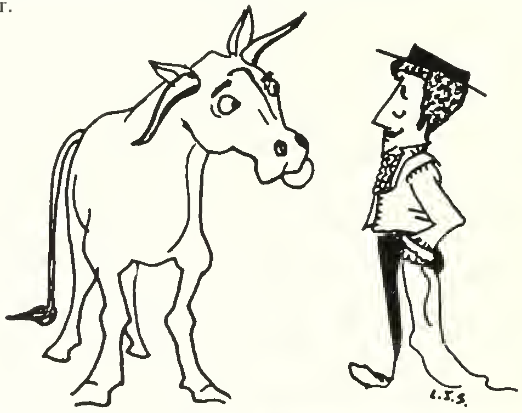
"Sociability, thy name is woman."

Amy Vanderbilt's book of etiquette is a little too complex for the average high school student. For example, how many times have you been called upon to greet the ambassador from Outer Mongolia? The Social Customs Club, on the other hand, offers students practical advice on good grooming, etiquette, makeup, and dating. This club helps its members fight the urge to stir their coffee with their thumbs.

Spanish Club

Es mi sombrero. Remember that phrase! Someday you may be asked to identify your own headgear in Spanish—often called the "lovin' tongue." The members of this club have a much greater acquaintance with Spanish language and literature than is involved in knowing the few utilitarian words easily learned in "adult" western (like adios). Through slides, discussions, and other kinds of informal get-togethers, members grow to enjoy the language and culture of Don Quixote and Sancho Panza.

Row 1: Jane Joffe, Anita Handalian, Sara Fink, Hinda Feierstein (Secretary), Stephen Albert (President), Kenneth Cohen, Harold Sadow (Treasurer), Judy Hirshberg. Row 2: Mr. Goodrich, Myrna Churnick, Dorothy Hirshberg, Simone Briansky, Judi Norman, Karen Eudovich, Lois Spiegel, Ellen Goldkrand, Mrs. Rodriguez. Row 3: Stephen Lewis, William Guiffre, Daniel Farber, Stanley Berkowitz, Maurice Sorenson, Fred Wiseman, Joel Kramer.



Planning to wear that to the Senior Prom, Steve?

Stamp Club

If, some afternoon, you should see a student rushing through the corridors, peering through a magnifying glass, Sherlock Holmes has not necessarily been reincarnated. Chances are it is a Stamp Club member (referred to tongue-twistingly as a philatelist). Stamp auctions, trades, and other spirited bargaining characterize their meetings. This club caters to the needs not only of the general stamp collector but also of those interested in stamps of a particular country or type. It is refreshing to find people interested in stamps despite the repulsive taste of the glue.

No, no! It's our last stamp.

Stage and Electrical Staff

Not everyone is willing to spend hours stirring huge pails of paint and glue or flipping light switches in a dim backstage Avernus. The members of the Stage and Electrical Staff gleefully don blue jeans and torn sweat shirts to provide an effective setting for countless school functions. Without their efforts, plays and assemblies would be nothing but word patterns in a great black void. Their efficient handling of the public address system avoids confusion about school procedures, club meetings, and College Board deadlines, and keeps the student body informed about awards and the commemoration of holidays.

Count-down

Good morning. Today is Wednesday, Prince Spaghetti Day.

Student Forum

"The world is full of a number of things." Most of them, in these harried times anyway, seem to be revolutions, turmoil, and drastic political and economic change. If you can manage to tear yourself away from newspaper comic strips, doubtless you are aware of some of these matters. The Student Forum attempts to clarify some of the confused issues by means of interesting guest speakers and panel discussions. Members sponsor and plan the annual United Nations Day assembly and World Affairs Institute. For members of the Student Forum, the world takes shape as a global entity rather than a nebulous mass.

FOOTBALL

Led by Captain Gorczyk, the team climaxed a fairly successful season with a 34 to 8 Thanksgiving Day triumph. Outstanding members of the squad were Billy Cavanaugh, Mike Conry, John Lothrop, Peter Gorczyk, John Nyhan, Larry Kaplan, and Kevin Mahoney. The student body salutes the team and Coaches Downes and Schluntz for their constant effort.

EPILOGUE

Four years—and how many patches! It is impossible to measure how much we have given and received in our years at Brookline High School. We do know, however, that our pleasure and satisfaction, though immeasurable, are real. Only the framework has been laid here; our life's project is barely begun. We are now ready to continue in earnest the task of collecting bits of wisdom and experience and of sewing them together with stitches of determination.
